REPRESENTATION OF THE Exhibit of Holiday Gifts In Leather Goods.

A gift should combine beauty with utility. This idea is becoming more universal every senson.

"There's nothing like leather," is a saying quite true, but it is also true that there are many things made to look like it. More's the reason why you should go to a Leather Store where "leather is leather?" and the assortment is large. Never before have we shown such a stock of Leather Goods at such low prices.

The wedding of Miss Grace Anita Walker,

Goodali.

A committee to have charge of the Bachelors' germans during the coming season has been organized with the following names: Mr. William Hall Slack, president; Mr. Josse Brown, vice president; Mr. Robert S. Clitton, Jr., Mr. Charles C. Glover, Hon. Alan Johnstone, Baron Clemens von Kettler, Mr. Charles Laurie McCawley, treasurer; Mr. John Van Ness Philip and Mr. P. Lee Phillips, secretary. It is proposed to give three cotillions at the National Rifles' Hall Wednesday, January 3; Monday, January 15, and Wednesday, January 31. Possibly a fourth will be given after Lent. These cotillions have been immensely successful in past years and there is every reason to believe that they will be even more popular this winter, when the social season will be short and necessarily crowded with good things. The cotillions will commence at 10 o'clock and an effort is to be made to have them over with at a reasonably early hour.

SALVATION ARMY SERVICES. The New Hall to Be Opened on Thanks The Salvation Army will formally open the new hall of its local corps at 1300 Penn-

The Salvation Army will formally open the new hall of its local corps at 300 Pennsylvania avenue on Friday evening. Adjutant and Mrs. Dunham, who are in charge of the work in Maryland, Virginia and the District of Columbia, will come over from Baltimore to conduct the dedication services, which will begin promptly at 8 o'clock. Adjutant and Mrs. Dunham will be here tomorrow also, when special Thanksgiving day services will be held at the new hall at 3 o'clock in the afternoon and at 8 o'clock in the evening. At the latter meeting Mrs. Dunham will give the very interesting story of her personal experience in the army. Capt McFetridge and Lieut. Boireleth, the officers in charge of the local corps will, of course, take an active part in all these meetings. The Salvation Army never suspends its meetings unless it is absolutely impossible to carry them on so that the local officers have been holding meetings right along ever since they removed on the life the new table for the first tent of the new table for the first tent of the new table for the service of the local of the new table for the service of the local of the new table for the first tent of the new table for the pretty of the new table for the first tent of the new table for the first tent of the new table for the pretty of the new table for the first tent of the new table for the parties of the life. impossible to carry them on so that the local officers have been holding meetings right along ever since they removed on the 15th to the new hall in spite of the disadvantages due to the work on the improvements, which had to be made. For a long time the army and its friends of the Auxlinary League have been anxious to get a better hall, but sought a suitable one in vain until they found the one at 169 Pennsylvania ayenue, which is admirably adapted to the needs of the work. It will be remembered that for several years it was occupied by the Centrai Union Mission, so that it has a most valuable "good will" as it were. Now that it has been freshly painted and fapered and otherwise renovated it is as attractive as ever and the Salvation Army officers are well pleased with it. The army authorities at headquarters in New York appreciate the growing importance of the work here and propose to aid it in every way in their power especially by sending interesting singers and speakers here from time to time. Washington has now about fifty of the two they and members of the Auxlilary League in the United States, and they are becoming more and more interested in the army work. It is expected that a number of them will be present at the delication service on Friday night.

THE SOCIAL WORLD. ONE NEW BATTLE SHIP

A Pratty Wedding That Took Place To- It is Understood Secretary Herbert Recommends Its Construction.

It Will Contain Much

The wedding of Miss Grace Anita Walker, daughter of Capt. and Mrs. Win. H. Walker, and Mrs. Halet Osmer Nettleton of New Haven. Conn., took place today at high noon at the Calvary Baptist Church. Dr. Samuel Greene officiating. The march from Lohengrin, rendered by Professor Theo. I. King, heraided the approach of the bridal party. The bride, attired in a walking rown of gray crepon, brown velver and fur, entered, leaning on the arm of her father, who gave her in marriage. Her younger sister May, the maid of honor, wore heliotrope broadcloth, and carried the vellum bound prayerbook from which the service was read, the marker being violets, the bride's flowers. She was preceded by the ushers, Messrs. Charles Lee Cooke, Thos. Furcell Woodward, John B. Maccaley, and Walkee Stowell, all of Washington, D. C. At the same time the groom, accompanied by the best man, Mr. Walter P. Keene, entered from the door on the ieft, and, crossing before the altar received the bride. After the ceremony, the immediate wedding party returned to the home of the bride's parents, 1840 Vermont avenue, where a wedding breakfast was served previous to the departure of the bridal couple for southern climes. The presents were numerous and handsome.

Among those who witnessed the marriage ceremony were many 'relatives and friends from in and out of town. Some of them were: Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Hart Smith of Baltimore; Miss Grace Dean of New London, Conn.; Miss Addie Larrick, Winchester: Mr. Harvey Creighton, Alexandria, Va.; Mr. and Mrs. L. V. Mackintosh, Mr. and Mrs. T. V. Mackintosh, Mr

Submarine Boats.

The Secretary, it is said, approves the recommendations of Capi, Sampson, chief of the ordnance bureau, that the $450,000 appropriated for a duplicate of the Vessuvius be used for the construction of four torpedo boats of the Ericsson type. The appropriation was made conditionally that the Vessuvius proved successful, but as there is be used for the construction of four torpedo boats of the Ericason type. The appropriation was made conditionally that the Vesuvius proved successful, but as there is much doubt as to the value of the dynamite cruiser the Secretary believes that the money had better be used for other purposes. He also recommends that the £20,,000 appropriated last Congress for a submarine boat and experiments be devoted to constructing torpedo boats. This is recommended by the chief of ordnance. The idea to constructing torpedo boats. This is recommended by the chief of ordnance. The idea to construct the submarine boat has been virtually abandoned for the present, it is said, on account of the uncertainty surrounding the efficiency and success of this six ould be built without any additional appropriation. All that would be necessary is a clause in the naval appropriation bill directing the Secretary to use the money in this way.

The report is supposed to treat at length of the valuable lessons taught by the Columbian naval review. It also shows the necessity for congressional action to put an end to the pessent stagnation in promotions, so as to provide a more rapid advancement of officers, especially in the lower grades. The estimates of all the naval bureaux are lower than last year. The largest estimate for any single bureau is $5,99,000 to pay for armor already contracted for. This armor is for vessels uncharses. The bureaus of construction and steam engineering require $6,509,000 to pay for ships and their engines now building.

It is said that the Secretary asks for an appropriation to commence the building of a new dry dock opposite New Orleans.
